

Peer-to-peer exchange sessions

Each year, the library plans several peer-to-peer exchange sessions with various libraries. The objective of these exchanges is to share and learn from the experiences and practices of other libraries in order to improve on service delivery. In 2021, the key objective of these exchanges was to benchmark on best practices for electronic library and knowledge management systems. This is informed by the fact that the library has embarked on project to develop an electronic library, which is part of a larger knowledge management project.

In person sessions were held with Strathmore University Library and University of Dodoma. A virtual session was held with the AUC

Knowledge Management Division. The pandemic affected most of the other planned sessions. More will be held in 2022.
